Sewer easement drive by realtors

The Sewers and Drainage Committee, chaired by David Partney, in conjunction with the Real Estate Committee, chaired by John Krevovich—both are Tri-Cities Area

Chamber of Commerce committees—met Friday with realtors, township attorneys, township supervisors and Edward Juneau, engineer, in an effort to assure that the four-township sanitary sewer project can start this year.

"Time is getting short, and the supervisors need help to acquire the balance of the easements necessary to cinch the project and make sure the 75 per cent grant is not lost because we failed to do our job locally," Chamber Executive Vice-President Edward Reiske said.

"Right now, the monkey is on our back. There is no hangup in Springfield, in engineering, or any other detail. It is simply a matter of getting the easements signed within the next 30 days."

Biggie Munn once said at halftime in a game in Southern California—"You have 30 minutes to win this game and the balance of your life to remember it."

"Either we complete this sewer project, or we may as well lock the doors as far as future of this area is concerned."

Reiske added, "The opportunity to get sewers will not come again, and without sewers there is no need to talk about any great development in the area. The $150 million project planned for Highway 270 and the Great River Road will never go unless we first get the sewer easements."

"Never in the past, and probably never again in the future, will there be anything so vital to the growth of this area as this project, and for that reason we can't afford to lose it."

"For the past year or more, the supervisors have been working virtually day and night in an all-out effort to complete the easements. But they just haven't had manpower enough to get around and see all of the property involved, or to take time to explain to them the absolute necessity of this project."

"It is not a case of the property owners being unable to afford the sewer system—rather, it is a case of not being able to afford not to complete the system now."

"The sewer system will pay for itself in a short period of time due to property appreciation, and the cost will decrease as more houses are built and more users tap-on." Each realtor and his salesmen have been assigned several property owners who have not yet seen fit to sign easements, and they will be contacting these owners promptly, they indicated.

"They are willing to take the time to explain why this sewer system is so important to them and the entire community," Reiske said. "These real estate people are getting nothing in the way of compensation."

"All of them are volunteering their time and work gratis, but they also know that when the sewer project is complete they will be rewarded with more building, more real estate sales, more insurance and long-term growth."

"They also know that they cannot continue to sell the same houses over and over in this area without building new. They know that new houses will not be built with septic tanks. New construction would simply go somewhere else.

"One of the reasons they will not be built is that the Federal Housing Administration will not finance any construction (Continued on Page 10)

Arraigned on charge of murder

Angelo Dwayne Baker, 17, of 16 Grenzer Homes, Madison, was arraigned Thursday afternoon in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting Wednesday of Frank J. Riddle, 59, of 1701 Market St., Madison, in his home.

Mrs. Riddle's wife, Ann, 49, also was shot and is recuperating from her wounds although still hospitalized. The family's dog, "Rusty," also was shot and killed.

Madison police also filed charges in juvenile court at Edwardsville Thursday against two 15-year-old Venice girls who are alleged to have been in the Riddle home at the time of the shootings.

Baker was charged with murder, a count of murder during the committing of a felony, robbery and attempted murder.

A detention hearing for the two girls was held at 1 p.m. Thursday during which Circuit Judge Victor Mosele found probable cause for each of the charges and ordered the girls held in the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home at Edwardsville until an adjudicatory hearing which must be held within 10 days of Thursday's hearing.

Baker's arraignment late Thursday was before Circuit Judge William Beatty and his bond was continued at $250,000. He was ordered held in the (Continued on Page 22)

Rapid phone growth

(25th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)
The hundredth anniversary of the invention of the telephone is being observed here and elsewhere during the nation's two hundredth birthday celebration.

A patent was issued in March 1876 to Alexander Graham Bell. He held public demonstrations of his invention to excite the public's interest and to raise capital.

At first, people were uninterested or amused, but by the end of the decade numerous telephone exchanges had sprung up throughout the country and long-distance service existed between some points.

3 of university's founders honored

"This entire evening is symbolic of the long-standing friendship we have developed with the community we serve," Acting SIUE President Andrew J. Kochman told a dinner gathering of 300 here Friday night at a Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce "salute to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville."

Speaking in the cafeteria of Granite City High School South, Dr. Kochman commented, "Let this evening be an inspiration to even further friendship and growth."

"We are proud of what we have accomplished over the ten years of our presence in this area."

"We are even prouder of the friends who have made such dramatic growth possible. For the future, we can only promise that we will do everything we can to carry on this splendid beginning," Dr. Kochman said.

John Page Wham was honored as a 1945-65 member of the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees and board chairman from 1953 to 1965, years during which creation of a new university here was studied and then carried out by the Carbondale-based institution.

Harold R. Fischer, vice-chairman of the First Granite City National Bank, was cited for serving on the SIUE Board of Trustees from 1964 to 1975. He was SIUE vice-chairman two years and chairman from 1971 to 1973.

President of the SIUE Foundation, Fischer was attending a Foundation meeting last week at Sunset Hills Country Club when he suffered a fall and was hospitalized. He was recuperating at home Friday and was represented at the dinner by Paul H. Lichtenberger, chairman of the bank.

Ernest A. Karandjoff, president of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and of the American National Bank of Granite City, was recognized as chairman in the local community of the drive to provide funds to begin purchasing the site that became SIUE.

Karandjoff served on the executive committee of the Southwestern Council on Higher Education, a group instrumental in the establishment of the new university. He is an officer of the Mississippi River Festival, the annual summer public concert series sponsored by SIUE.

Man captured in Madison; trooper suffers broken leg

Thomas Ray Mills, 20, LeMay, Mo., faces six charges after he allegedly was chased in a stolen car at high speeds on Route 203 north into Madison, the car striking a fire hydrant at 12th Street and McCambridge Avenue at 1:50 a.m. Saturday.

Illinois State Police Trooper William Simpson, 33, of Granite City, suffered a broken right lower leg while attempting to chase Mills on foot from the accident scene, it was alleged.

State troopers said the chase began near Route 203 and Interstate 70 when an auto was shown by radar to be speeding north on Route 203.

Trooper Simpson began the chase at speeds of up to 100 miles-per-hour, he reported. He radioed Madison police, requesting help in stopping the car.

Officer William Steiner of Madison said he tried to stop the car near the curve at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue, but was forced to turn the squad car off the road and over the curb to avoid it being struck.

The car being chased attempted a left turn onto 12th Street, but was unable to stay on the road and struck the fire hydrant, it was alleged.

The driver then got out of the car and began to run on foot. Simpson, who was chasing him, fell with his leg broken and Madison police continued the chase on foot.

On and off the record State sues county

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has launched legal action against the treasurers of Illinois counties holding nearly $8 million in inheritance tax funds.

While his staff continued to prepare papers to join legal actions to collect the funds from Cook County, and over $750,000 from Lake County, Scott filed suits Friday in St. Clair and Madison Counties.

The circuit court suits ask for more than $24,000 from St. Clair County Treasurer Paul M. Haas and $4,800 from Madison County Treasurer George Musso, the dollar figures estimated to be owed to the state as of Feb. 29. He alleged that the county treasurers have been hiding the funds, each claiming that his county is entitled to a four per cent collection fee as was (Continued on Page 10)

Dog found, shots delayed

A small brown dog that bit a 9-year-old Granite City boy was found late Thursday afternoon, ending a weeklong search for the animal to determine if it might be rabid.

Had the dog not been located, the boy, David Warfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Warfield, 4000 Sara St., would have had to begin taking the series of painful anti-rabies shots on Saturday.

The dog was located about 5 p.m. Thursday after a woman called the police department and said she had seen a dog, answering the description of the animal sought while it was crossing Pontoon Road near Division Street.

Police relayed the call to humane officers who, in turn, notified the boy's father. Humane officers then drove to the scene. Mr. Warfield, meanwhile, had picked up the animal in the 4000 block of Division Street.

A FAR CRY

Even though many of our modern drugs can be traced back to primitive origins, they are a far cry from the crude concoctions of the tribal medicine man. Because they have been refined and strengthened to high degrees of potency, they are often referred to as "miracle drugs," which in truth they are - but only when used properly, under the direction of a qualified physician.

Deaf Drama Guild to perform Friday at South High School

The St. Louis Deaf Drama Guild, sponsored by Cahokia Chapter, Illinois Association of the Deaf, will present a play, entitled "The King's Holiday," at 7:30 p.m. Friday, at Granite City High School South auditorium.

Tickets are available, at a cost of $2 for adults and $1 for children, at Hudson Jewelers in Downtown Granite City and Belleville Village, at the door Friday night, from any area deaf resident or by writing to Cahokia Chapter of the Deaf, 74 Shirlwin Drive, Granite City. The play is unique, in that it is performed in sign language and will be interpreted for the hearing. Children who are deaf or whose hearing is impaired will enjoy the play, even if they are not trained in the use of sign language, the sponsors said, noting the participants all use total communication, making it possible for lip readers to benefit somewhat from the play.

Director Cathy Atwood, who is totally deaf, is director of the St. Louis Guild. She has been trained in deaf drama at a workshop sponsored by the National Theatre of the Deaf. Mrs. Atwood has won various awards for her adaptations, performances and directing in several cities across the nation. The play is interpreted by Christy Huddleston, who is seen Mrs. Givens, president, was in charge of the business session and welcomed four new members, Mrs. Sharon Taylor, Mrs. Judy Reiderberger, Mrs. Barbara Mihalich and Miss Debbie Seebold.

Plans were made for several members to attend the sorority's area convention, scheduled yesterday at Centralia.

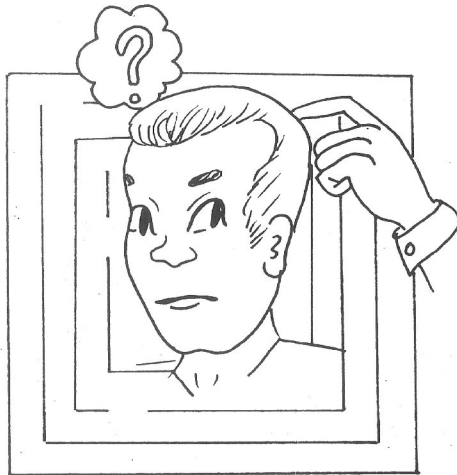

SENTENCED TO PRISON John S. Harris, 32, St. Louis, was sentenced Friday in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville to serve three to nine years in prison for burglarizing the home of Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. 4 candidates for 3 posts on Madison School Board

DONALD E. GARRETT

Donald E. Garrett, 401 Second St., Madison, a Fifth Ward alderman, seeks election Saturday to the Madison Board of Education.

Venice Township Precinct Five Democratic committeeman, he has three children, Robin, 12, Donald, eight, and Joyce, six.

Garrett says, "The issues in the Madison School District election are clear."

"They are: discipline, order and safety in the schools so that those who want an education are able to get it, a possible huge increase in the school tax rate because the district is threatened with an impending loss of both state and federal funds, lack of creative leadership and direction from the present board, and control of School Board policies in the hands of a few cliques."

Garrett says, "The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency. The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency. The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency."

"Every parent and teacher knows that discipline and order are absolutely necessary ingredients in the educational process. Yet, discipline, order and safety are almost totally absent in the Madison schools. Why?"

"The answer to this question may be the most crucial issue in the whole election. The answer can be found in the words of an old Greek philosopher, who candidly stated that 'he who would enforce the law, must first of all obey the law.'"

"The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency. The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency. The fact is that the Madison School Board is in a state of emergency."

"How, one must ask, can a School Board, which has made a laughing stock out of the Madison County Circuit Court by refusing to obey court orders, and which has totally ignored guidelines set down by the state superintendent of schools despite warnings of dire consequences, expect its student population to respect it?"

"Every student knows that the board is in violation of court orders. Every student knows that the board is in violation of court orders. Every student knows that the board is in violation of court orders."

"It is no wonder that every student and parent sneers, mocks and disrespects the board and the board policies. They simply practice the same kind of disrespect for rules and laws that the board practices. Can you imagine a School Board putting a student on probation, when the School Board itself is on probation for its conduct?"

HAROLD T. FISK

Harold T. Fisk, 57, of 1124 Iowa St., a Madison School Board member for the past 12 years, is seeking re-election to the board Saturday. There are four candidates for three board positions.

Fisk has served as president of the Board of Education for the past year. Occurrences during that time have included voter approval in balloting on the construction of a new "middle school" (sixth, seventh and eighth grades).

A Granite City Steel control specialist, he has been employed at the local plant for 29 years. Born in Eminence, Mo., Fisk has resided here 54 years. He is a member of the Madison Lions Club and Masonic Lodge 877, treasurer of the Boy Scout Troop 21 committee and a past member of the Red Cross chapter board of directors.

In addition to serving on the Madison board, Fisk has represented it on the Quad-City area special education board, and on the Quad-City area special education board, and on the Quad-City area special education board.

He has served as civil defense director of Madison and has been an officer of United Steelworkers Local 30.

Fisk regards the operation of the Madison school system as efficient, and believes that the new school building to be erected will lead to further improvements.

Detailed planning is being carried out at present to assure that the middle school will be an outstanding addition to the district's facilities, he adds.

come up with creative solutions to the very serious problems that confront it.

"There is almost total agreement among educators in the district that if the board would leave solutions of problems to the parents, teachers and students themselves, solutions would be found to everybody's satisfaction."

"That brings me to the fourth of the most serious issues in the upcoming election, the issue of the school board political machine. The Madison Board of Education controls millions of dollars of money and hundreds of patronage jobs."

CHESTER McMANAWAY

Chester L. McManaway, 61, of 1681 Second St., who has served on the Madison School Board for 21 years, is seeking an eighth three-year term Saturday.

Owner of the McManaway and Real Estate and Insurance Agency, he is secretary of the board and formerly served as president for an extended period.

A lifelong Quad-Cityan, he has resided in Madison except for brief periods in Venice and Granite City.

He was Madison City treasurer from 1945 to 1949 and was secretary of the Madison playground and recreation board from 1949 to 1950.

McManaway attended Madison schools and graduated in 1933 from Madison High School. He attended Washington University and Southern Illinois University.

Active in the First Baptist Church of Madison, he was a tractor-trailer driver for Hayes Freight Lines seven years, a life insurance agent for the Metropolitan firm five years and an Illinois Terminal Railroad conductor six years.

McManaway is the father of Mrs. Nancy Rainer of Granite City and there is a year-old granddaughter, Amy Lee Rainer.

He believes Madison school policies have been sound and have achieved the highest possible degree of stability during times of rapid change.

"Noting that we have been told that our decisions were legal and sometimes illegal but we have made the right choices."

He noted that construction of a sixteenth-seventh-grade center will enable all fourth and fifth grade pupils to be assigned to Louis Bar School, with Dunbar School closed.

DONALD BOYER

Donald R. Boyer, 40, of 2037 MacLands Ave., Madison, is seeking a second three-year term on the Madison Board of Education in the annual school election April 10.

"Education for the children of Madison is foremost in my platform for re-election," Boyer comments.

"My experience as a member of the School Board will be helpful to me in working with others to fulfill the goal of a quality education in our school system."

Boyer and his wife, Jean, have two sons, Donnie, 14, and Brian, 12.

A native of Granite City and lifelong resident of the Quad-City area, he is self-employed as a television technician.

Boyer attended Madison schools and is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church. He is active in the Khoury League baseball program.

comply fully with varied and occasionally contradictory state and federal directives, he commented.

McManaway views the past nine years as a period in which the Madison district met its student assignment responsibilities in a consistent manner and in a way beneficial to the entire school system.

"Each of us strives to represent all people of the district," he emphasized.

"Sometimes we have been told that our decisions were legal and sometimes illegal but we have made the right choices."

Army ponders St. Louis as site of development center

The Department of Army said Friday that an Army study has resulted in the selection of a preferred alternative for organization of an Aviation Development Center and an associated support command within the U. S. Army Materiel Development and Readiness Command (DARCOM).

The proposed Aviation Materiel Readiness Command is to be comprised of the Research and Development elements of DARCOM's U. S. Army Aviation Systems Command (AVSCOM) and the Avionics Laboratory of the U. S. Army Electronics Command (ECOM), Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Four alternatives are addressed in the concept study prepared for the Development Center. The Army-preferred alternative is Alternative No. 1. The four are:

1. Establish the Development Center Headquarters in St. Louis, at the Federal Center on Goodfellow Boulevard, with other major subordinate functional elements remaining essentially unchanged in present locations.
2. Consolidate the Development Center at Langley Air Force Base, Va.
3. Consolidate at Moffett Field, Calif.
4. Establish the Development Center Headquarters in St. Louis at the Federal Center with the restructuring of the Air Mobility Research and Development Laboratory (AMRDL), Moffett Field.

"Each of the alternatives leading to consolidation has considerable merit in terms of potential cost savings and management efficiency," a spokesman said.

The proposed U. S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command is to be formed by merging the logistical elements of AVSCOM with the Troop Support Command at the Federal Center in St. Louis.

Two other alternatives are being considered. Retain all current functions and missions performed by AVSCOM and the logistical elements of AVSCOM.

Transfer selected functions and personnel to other DARCOM commands.

"The Army's preferred alternative is to retain all functions and to establish the Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command at the Federal Center in St. Louis."

"This proposed realignment of TROSCOM and AVSCOM would result in significant recurring savings to the Army through management efficiencies achieved in the merger of similar functions."

"The alternative concepts considered for these realignments have been submitted to interested members of Congress and their comments have been solicited. Following an evaluation of the comments received, the Army will decide which specific alternatives will be implemented. This decision is expected to occur in June 1976."

Bell implements plan to charge for directory aid

Illinois Bell has filed tariffs with the Illinois Commerce Commission to implement a directory assistance charging plan which would not go into effect until 1977 when necessary equipment changes are completed.

The plan, which incorporates nearly all the features ordered by the commission on February 4, would allow each residential customer a 30-cent directory assistance credit per month plus a three-call allowance to directory assistance. Each call over the three allowed would be 10 cents.

Thus a customer can make six calls to directory assistance each month without any additional charge. Customers who make three or less calls to directory assistance in a month will have a 30-cent reduction in their monthly bill for basic service.

Directory assistance calls which will not be charged include those: From coin telephones, hotels, hospitals for home phone, physically handicapped persons unable to use the directory.

For numbers which, at the customer's request, are not listed in the directory or with the hallways of Madison's schools, rather than a quiet, well-disciplined, orderly atmosphere so necessary for learning.

For numbers which, at the customer's request, are listed only in directory assistance. For numbers outside a customer's own area code.

The Feb. 4 commission order would have excluded charges for requests for new listings (new phone numbers which are not listed in the customer's current directory) or for other requests for which the directory assistance operator finds no listings. The tariffs filed last week would not have these exclusions.

The company said it is requesting this change from the commission plan because "without this modification the net cost of the charging plan would exceed the cost of directory assistance service with no charging."

This change, the company added, "will permit both the company and its customers to realize cost savings, and will provide a plan that can be administered fairly and reasonably."

As directed by the commission, the company is also requesting a 30-cent monthly rate for customers who request semi-private directory service (numbers which customers request not be listed in the directory but are available from directory assistance).

The company said it will continue its policy of providing directories at no charge to customers who require them.

26 officers called to quell Gypsy fights

Twenty-six police officers from four agencies were required to calm a major disturbance at Fun & Sun Beach Resort and the KOA Campgrounds on West Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell yesterday afternoon. Two Madison County sheriff's deputies first were dispatched to the beach resort on a report of a disturbance. When they arrived, they said they saw at least five fights in progress with about 100 to 150 persons, involved in the disturbances.

One deputy described the situation as "a complete mayhem," and "too hard for two deputies to control." "The situation, to say the least, was out of control," he noted, adding, "People were using anything they could get their hands on as weapons," even 4-by-4-inch fence posts they pulled from the ground. The deputies said the disturbance squad car was surrounded by screaming people, some yelling rape, some robbery and many alleging other crimes. Most had been drinking. It was noted.

Assistance from other county cars in the area was requested and as the fights became more heated, the deputies called for any help available from any nearby agency.

Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Illinois State Police units responded. The deputies reported when the Gypsies heard sirens approaching from nearly every direction, the fights broke up and the crowd scattered.

After 26 officers arrived, there was a report from the KOA Campgrounds across the street of people running around with shotguns and of one or more shots fired. The officers went to the campgrounds where they said three large Gypsy "families" were staying.

The called for the Madison County Civil Defense unit to be brought to the scene for possible use as a "padding wagon," should the situation require mass arrests, if the Gypsies would not agree not to cause further problems and to move from the campground this morning.

Deputies patrolled the area throughout the night, but reported no further incidents. It was noted there was an interior damage to the hall at Sun & Fun which had been rented to the group, and one window was broken.

When the police arrived at the campgrounds, those allegedly causing the problems were into campers and trailers. Officers decided to search trailer to trailer to attempt to find those they saw causing the most problems earlier.

They reported the situation was difficult because the troublemakers were hidden in trailers and many had changed clothing, making them difficult to identify.

After discussing the situation with the three family "kings," officers agreed not to make any arrests, if the Gypsies would agree not to cause further problems and to move from the campground this morning.

Deputies patrolled the area throughout the night, but reported no further incidents. It was noted there was an interior damage to the hall at Sun & Fun which had been rented to the group, and one window was broken.

Steel job formation proposal is outlined

The chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute last week outlined for Congress "the means to create at least 85,000 new jobs, and how to meet steel industry environmental spending of $1.5 billion a year without any cost to the American taxpayer or the U. S. Treasury."

The capital and jobs formation proposal came in testimony at tax reform hearings conducted by the Senate Finance Committee. It revolves around a flexible capital recovery allowance system keyed to a permanent 12 per cent investment tax credit.

The proposal also urges immediate writedoff of pollution control facilities or, if that is not feasible, a reduction in the recovery period for environmental control expenditures, allowing full application of the investment tax credit on these expenditures. The proposal by Frederick G. Jaicks, who also is chairman of Inland Steel Co., detailed steps to increase the amount of cash flow that industry could retain and reinvest to acquire productive facilities and create production jobs.

"Our system of enterprise in this country is in jeopardy," the steel industry spokesman told the committee. "It is in jeopardy because many people do not understand that the productive machine in our country is fueled by the investment of private capital into the system."

Jaicks emphasized the industry's need for $5 billion annually to meet a demand for 30 million more tons of new productive capacity by the early 1980s. He indicated that steel firms, lacking help through tax law revisions, will fall $1.7 billion short of the necessary funds yearly.

In its best volume years, 1973 and 1974, the domestic industry generated annual net cash flow of just $2.8 billion. In 1975, the industry was about 20 per cent short of that figure.

"When operational," Jaicks declared, "this new capacity would require 85,000 to 90,000 full-time employees—for mining all the way through steel finishing operations." In addition, he said, it would provide a substantial number of jobs for supplier and construction industries, many of them involving immediate employment requirements.

The domestic iron and steel industry now employs 750,000 persons.

Calling for a "truly effective and competitive capital recovery system" which permits recovery of the costs of all productive industrial investments in as little as five years, the institute chairman made the following recommendations to the committee:

Adoption of a permanent 12 per cent investment tax credit applied to expenditures as they are made, not when a project is placed in service. He said this should also include a reduction in the basis for depreciation, and would apply to all property subject to the capital recovery system. The investment credit currently stands at 10 per cent and is not permanent.

Enact legislation permitting all expenditures for air and water pollution control facilities to be deducted when incurred. About 30 per cent of expenditures for new steelmaking facilities in the next six to nine years must go for essentially nonproductive environmental control equipment.

Jaicks cited a steel industry study, which he said rebuts the allegation that reducing taxes on business investments creates a drain on government revenues.

The study by the AISI shows that in addition to the $3.3 billion in present spending potential, an increase in the tax credit from seven per cent to 12 per cent would generate sufficient additional cash to construct a "significant steel manufacturing facility."

"Overtime, the profits generated by construction firms, plus salaries and wages paid to construction workers and to employees operating the facility would generate approximately the same amount of federal income taxes lost through the increase in the investment tax credit," Jaicks told the committee.

CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Midwest-Erickson Hair Specialists cannot help those who are sick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But, if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead you beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on April 7, 1976, and go to the Travelodge in Granite City between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for A. C. Erickson's room number.

Costs, other factors threaten state road construction program

Substantial changes in the state's road building plans will be required because of a combination of federal regulatory delays, skyrocketing construction costs and increasing diversions of highway construction funds for administration, maintenance and operations of other state agencies.

This is the major conclusion of an Illinois State Chamber of Commerce analysis of the road program on Friday. The report, part of a series of studies on the state's budget and fiscal health, says the problem is compounded by a dwindling supply of money, coupled with rising costs of maintenance and new construction.

"It is imperative we review our road priorities and revenue resources at once before we're forced by lack of funds into decisions which may not be in the best interests of citizens and businesses which rely heavily on the state's road system," said Lester W. Brann Jr., president of the 19,000-member statewide business organization. Brann said the State Chamber will establish a special task force to examine the problem and make recommendations on the future of Illinois' road program. "We're finding that the motor fuel tax increase of 10 years ago, designed to carry most of our road-building priorities to the year 1990, falls far short of meeting our goals," Brann added.

"Inflation and the energy crunch have combined to make present road projects more expensive than ever. Highway construction costs have jumped an estimated 67 per cent since 1971 and 119 per cent since 1967. "This means that while we may be spending more on building roads, we're getting less for our money. In fact, highway modernization and repair is down 54 per cent through inflation. "Add to this the fact that we're resorting more and more to the use of road fund monies for purposes other than building roads. Diversions for state police, secretary of state operations, the courts, Amtrak subsidies and other agencies total about $129 million—or about 20 per cent of the fiscal 1976-77 budget. In 1974-75, diversions totaled about 15 per cent of the road fund budget. "Operational costs of running the Department of Transportation are also up. IDOT expenses have increased $8.3 per cent in six years while revenues have risen only 12.7 per cent. "Operations of the department now take approximately 41 per cent of the revenues generated by motor fuel taxes and vehicle fees, compared to 36 per cent in 1972. "Roadbuilding has also fallen victim to bureaucratic red tape. At least 17 major federal directives must now be followed in building a road, causing at least a seven-and-a-half-year time lag from a design proposal to letting a road contract on Illinois federal aid projects.

"It's estimated that environmental studies and the impact of inflation have combined to add 30 per cent to the cost of roads in the past five years. Seventy to 80 agencies are currently involved in approving each federal aid project. "Unless the governor's office, the state Department of Transportation, the Illinois Transportation Study Commission and the General Assembly arrive at a mutually acceptable long-range plan incorporating new priorities, our state's highway program is in real trouble," Brann concluded.

Rolling Stone editor to speak

Hunter Thompson, controversial national affairs editor for "Rolling Stone," will speak at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Tuesday, April 13, at 8:30 p.m.

Thompson, 35, has become one of the best known journalists in the country through innovative, irreverent political reporting for "Rolling Stone."

His writing style is what he calls "intense, demented journalism... or gonzo." After covering the 1972 presidential campaign for "Rolling Stone," he expanded his articles into a book, "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas," which he produced after riding with a motorcycle gang in the mid-1960s.

Thompson's articles have appeared in the National Observer, Esquire, Ramparts and the New York Times. A native of Louisville, Ky., he now resides in Aspen, Colo.

He gained his first experience as a sportswriter in Florida. He served as the Caribbean correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune and the South American correspondent for the National Observer.

The program, sponsored by the University Center Board Issues and Ideas Committee, will be presented in Meridian Hall of the University Center. Tickets are $1 for SIUE students and $1.50 for non-students.

Club plans to hear candidates

The Granite City Democratic Club will hold a candidate night Tuesday to hear the six candidates for two seats on the Granite City Board of Education.

The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2032 Edison Ave. Refreshments will be served following the meeting. Club President Nick Petrillo urged all members, as well as the general public, to attend the event.

More Medicaid suspensions

Four more clinical laboratories, seven physicians, a dentist and a podiatrist were suspended Thursday from the state's Medicaid program.

James L. Trainor, Illinois Public Aid Director, said the 13 newest suspensions bring to 33 the number of Medicaid providers suspended by the Illinois Department of Public Aid during the past three months.

No Madison County physicians have been implicated. Combined payments made during 1975 to the 33 suspended Medicaid providers were $12,123,437. The suspended providers include 12 laboratories, 24 physicians, 15 pharmacies, one dentist and a podiatrist.

Public aid payments to all of the suspended Medicaid providers have been halted and evidence alleging possible fraud and collusion has been turned over to the appropriate law enforcement agencies for grand jury action.

Trainor said public aid investigators and auditors uncovered evidence that the suspended Medicaid providers engaged in fraudulent billing practices and entered into illegal kickback arrangements to obtain inflated Medicaid payments from the state and federal governments. Illinois receives 50 per cent federal matching funds for its Medicaid expenditures.

A three-pronged approach is being used by the Public Aid Department in its probe of Medicaid abusers. In addition to investigations and audits, cases of overutilization of the Medicaid program are routinely referred to the appropriate state medical advisory committee for peer review.

A number of the suspensions followed in-depth reviews by the department's Medical Audit and Review Section. Results of these providers reviews were presented to the appropriate medical advisory committee which, in turn, recommended suspensions.

Instances of incorrect treatment cited were unsupervised radiological procedures, x-rays ordered which did not match medical diagnoses and inadequate record-keeping systems.

Total laboratory payments to the 250 laboratories eligible to participate in the state's Medicaid program were $12,225,567 during 1975. The 12 suspended laboratories received a total of $6,180,227, or 50.1 per cent, of total Medicaid payments to all laboratories participating in the program. Total pharmacy payments to the 2,143 pharmacies eligible to participate in the Medicaid program were $71,980,202 during 1975. The 15 suspended pharmacies received $3,975,778 in public aid payments, or 4.1 per cent of the total payments made to all program pharmacies in 1975.

Total physicians payments to the 13,837 physicians (excluding dentists, optometrists, and chiropractors) eligible to participate in the Medicaid program were $106,506,399 in 1975. The 24 suspended physicians received a total of $2,882,581 or 2.7 per cent of the total payments made to all program physicians during 1975.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Mon., April 5, 1976 Page 9

Total dentist payments to the 3,468 dentists eligible to participate in the state's Medicaid program were $28,953,441. The suspended dentist received $68,744 during 1975.

Total 1975 podiatrist payments to the 646 podiatrists eligible to participate in the state's Medicaid program were $1,954,546. The suspended podiatrist received $36,107 during 1975.

During the 1974-75 fiscal year, Medicaid expenditures in Illinois totaled $65,000,000 to 25,000 vendors that provide medical services to the state's more than 1,000,000 public aid recipients.

The public aid probe alleged illegal kickbacks by some suspended laboratories to some doctors in return for their business. Auditors and investigators also reported evidence that some doctors ordered unnecessary tests and billed for treatment of patients never seen and that laboratories billed for tests never performed.

The investigation further brought out that some pharmacies billed the department for prescriptions never ordered by physicians and billed prescription quantities to receive increased payments from the state.

Trainor said a large number of physicians, dentists, pharmacies, optometrists, nursing homes and other medical providers throughout the state are currently under investigation and/or audit by the Public Aid Department.

Telephones

projected between Rock Island and Moline... the use of the telephone for short distances is likely to become general."

The Atlantic and Pacific Telephone Co. set up its first line in Chicago in 1877, connecting its main office with the home of John N. Hills in Ravenswood.

Hymns from the Moody and Saxey revival provided a spectacular success over the often noisy line. In May 1878, work was begun on the city's first telephone exchange and service began on June 26.

Within six months, 450 businesses and five homes had subscribed to the service. The Bell Telephone Co. of Illinois was incorporated in 1878. In 1881, the Chicago Telephone Co. bought the Bell Co. and the American District Telephone Co.

The Chicago Telephone Co. would become Illinois Bell in 1936. By 1882, the system had 2,610 telephones in Chicago and 392 in the suburbs.

Governmental regulation of the burgeoning industry seemed likely, and in 1881 a bill was introduced in the Senate seeking to prohibit telephone companies from consolidating. The Chicago Tribune acidly commented, "Senator Tanner proceeded to lock the doors after the horse had been stolen."

Private enterprise flourished in the telephone business, however, with massive consolidation not to come until well into the 20th century.

But was not yet in control, as evidenced by this ad in the Illinois Gazette in 1886:

"Herbert's telephone takes the place of Bell telephone on all lines less than two miles in length. Over 2,000 lines in successful operation."

The number of phones in Chicago grew fairly rapidly: Year, number of phones and number per capita: 1870—499 and 1 to 1094. 1880—2,971 and one to 169. 1890—7,766 and one to 141. 1900—24,414 and one to each 49 residents.

The first Downstate exchange opened in Peoria in 1879. By the end of the year, Jacksonville, Quincy, Bloomington, Pekin, Springfield, Moline, Rock Island, Decatur and Danville all had exchanges. Illinois was considerably better supplied with telephones than the rest of the United States.

Census figures show 3,000 telephones in use in 1876, or 0.1 per 1,000 persons. By 1900, national figures listed 1,356,000 telephone in use, with 17.6 per 1,000 persons.

Long-distance calling began in 1881; and by 1886, 63 toll stations in nine Chicago suburbs enabled callers to talk to the Big City.

Most toll stations were located in drugstores, with the drugist computing the charge for the call. Alexander Graham Bell himself made the first New York-Chicago call in 1892. The toll came to $9.

Lincoln's son, Robert Todd Lincoln, served as director of the Chicago Telephone Co. from 1889 to 1919, and held a brief term as president pro tem of the company in 1897.

The introduction of the telephone in the post-Civil War period revolutionized personal, business and public service communications while the industry provided a major employment and investment opportunity for citizens for Illinois.

Life changed rapidly in the Prairie State in the late 19th Century and the telephone was partially responsible.

Captured

jumped over one fence in the rear of 1033 McCambridge Avenue and ran through a picket fence at 1030 Reynolds St., breaking the fence.

Police alleged finding Mills hiding under a car in the carport at 1030 Reynolds St., where they said, refused to come out when ordered.

Two officers brought him out from under the car, handcuffed him and took him to the Madison Police Department where he was charged with destruction of city property and criminal damage to property.

State police charged him with theft of the auto of Richard Ellerbrake, Lebanon, in which he allegedly was chased. Troopers also charged Mills with speeding (100 miles-per-hour in a 30 m.p.h. zone), reckless driving, and attempting to flee from a police officer.

Mills was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions to his right knee, right palm and right jaw, abrasions to his right hip and a chest injury. X-rays were taken and he was released to the custody of police who took him to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

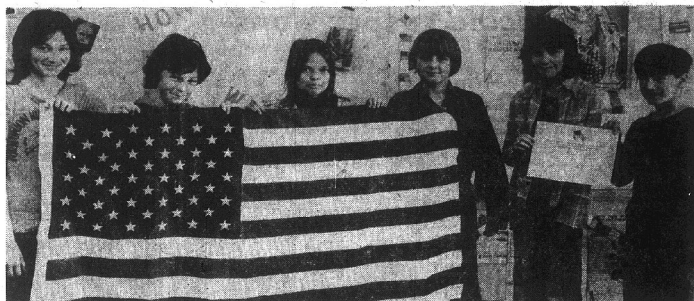

Trooper Simpson also underwent X-rays at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was admitted.

STEAL MOTORCYCLE

The 1974 silver and blue Honda 350 dirt bike of Ron Jones, 2419 Sunbury Ave., was stolen from a shed behind his home, he reported at 7:20 a.m. Saturday. A steel cable securing the motorcycle to the shed was cut.

without sewers. And certainly the day is coming when the Environmental Protection Agency will not permit a concentration of septic tanks saturating the soil with sewage and even running onto the surface in some places.

"More than that, there is always the hazard of an epidemic of diphtheria, typhoid or other plague associated with water pollution."

"The meeting concluded with a firm resolve on the part of all that 'this is a project that must not fail. The state wants it to go, and most local residents feel the same way.'"

The Chamber of Commerce executive related, "There are only a few who haven't yet signed their easements, and they will be contacted promptly by these real estate salesmen in an all-out effort to get the project under way promptly and avoid the loss of the grant."

"The township sewer committee firmly believes that the project will be installed one way or the other. Either easements will be signed and the sewers placed behind the houses where they should be, or if that can't be done the sewers will be placed down the center of the streets."

"To use the streets would cost a great deal more money and also cost the property owners still more when they decide to tap on."

"In addition, tearing up the streets is a bad move because they never quite come out the same once they are torn up, and construction costs skyrocket."

"This is a project that is going to require extraordinary cooperation from everyone concerned on a do-it-now basis because there is no time to waste."

"It is one of those situations that happens only once in a lifetime, and a kind of Bicentennial celebration that will live on for decades into the future."

Frank Riddle recalled as a kind and generous friend

"The tragic and senseless killing of Frank J. Riddle March 31 was a terrible shock to Madison."

Fifth Ward Alderman Donald E. Garrett told the Press-Record today.

"Many, such as I, had known Mr. Riddle for a great number of years. We became acquainted with him when he was often in this area as a city worker."

"Our fondest memory of him is as he drove through our area on his job, always saying hello, waving and smiling, and calling most of us by name."

"He was the first man I ever met who did not recognize a man's skin color, only the man," Garrett commented.

"Many residents of the Greiner-Garesche Homes have commented what a kind and gentle man he was, and how he loved the children. Often he fixed the bicycles of the children at no charge, refusing anything the parents and children offered and accepting only a 'thanks.'"

"They shall miss him, and so shall we. He was everything a man should be—generous, kind, honest, loving and respectful of his fellow man."

for the black community, because those allegedly involved were black youngsters, and members of some of the finest families in our community.

"Our hearts bled with sympathy for Mr. Riddle's surviving relatives, especially his wife, for whom we wish a full and speedy recovery."

"We have lost a friend. That is an understatement. The world has lost what it now has very few of... a very humane, decent and civilized man."

formerly provided by law. Scott has twice advised officials in legal opinions, and recently in demand letters, that the funds are held unlawfully, since the 1970 Constitution prohibited local governments from retaining fees based on the amount of funds collected.

The attorney general asks for a declaratory judgment holding that the old four per cent collection fee system under the Inheritance and Revenue Tax Act be held unconstitutional, and that injunctions be issued restraining the county treasurers from continuing the practice.

If Scott obtains favorable court rulings, the disputed money will go into the state's general revenue fund.

2 charged

Two Kirkpatrick Homes men were charged after an alleged fight in the 4000 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 8:20 p.m. Saturday.

John J. Hinkle, 4609 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and aggravated battery. Mike Wallace, 24, of 3503 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Police alleged taking a pair of "knuck chucks" or karate sticks away from Wallace at the fight scene. They also alleged Hinkle became abusive with officers in the police station and struck one policeman, knocking his glasses off and breaking them.

Motorcyclist hurt

William Carpenter, 19, of 2234 Grand Ave., was injured when his motorcycle and the auto of Mildred Rippy, 1733 Edison Ave., collided at 24th Street and Grand Avenue at 12:30 p.m. Saturday. Mildred Rippy was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign.

When the vehicles collided, Carpenter was thrown into the air and landed on the top of the car. He then bounced onto the trunk and rolled off onto the ground, landing on his hands and knees, he related.

He suffered abrasions to his right elbow and forearm, right lower leg and his lower back. X-rays were taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and he was released.

Student 'barn dance' at Washington school

An old fashioned barn dance was held last week in the Washington School gym with students from the sixth-grade physical education classes, attired in country garb, dancing the Virginia Reel, Duck for the Oyster, Ladies Grand Chain, Pop Goes the Weasel, Bingo, and Texas Star.

The barn dance was the finale of two weeks of fun and work for these Washington students. The square dance class was taken on a volunteer basis. Nancy Marti, physical education teacher at Washington, reported that 34 of the 48 sixth-grade students elected to learn to square dance, while the remaining 14 students chose to learn games of American origin.

Invitations were extended to parents of the participating students, and they expressed their astonishment and pleasure of their children's knowledge and enjoyment of the dances, the teacher said. Refreshments were furnished and served by the participating

THEFT FROM TRUCK
Items valued at about $378 were stolen from the truck of Reno Valle, Canton, Ohio, parked at Second and State streets, Madison, it was reported last week. The left window of the truck was broken to gain entry. Stolen were a $300 citizens' band radio and a speaker, a $10 tear gas pistol and a $60 coat.

Local 4-H clubs honored

Four-Hers and leaders used their imagination to present a variety of skits a la 4-H Share-The-Fun Contest last week at the Salem Parish Hall in Alhambra.

Twenty-six 4-H clubs participated in the countywide activity. Nineteen of the clubs received an "A" rating and seven received a "participation" rating.

A play by the Junior Homemakers 4-H club of Edwardsville was selected to represent Madison County at the Illinois State Fair in August. Titled "Country Style," it was a parody of Hee Haw.

Clubs receiving honorable mention included the Patchworkers of Granite City. Clubs awarded "participation" ribbons included the Moonshiners and 58ers of Granite City.

Introducing the acts were 13 4-Hers from the county. These youths were in competition for a trip to the State Fair as a master-of-ceremonies. They received "A" or "participation" ribbons.

OUTDOOR TRAILS How to choose fishing gear

By ART SCHUMANN

Often I've been asked about my favorite fishing gear for working, north country waters. Perhaps I can answer those questions today.

My tackle box is the remains of many years of fishing for all types of fish with all types of tackle. No matter what the tackle, though, I've found that each angler has to feel comfortable and confident with his gear.

For me, here's what works best. One fishing rod is good for all the fishing I do. It's a 6 1/2-foot spinning rod of medium action made with one piece of fiberglass. The eyelets are wrapped with stainless steel wire and the handle has a cork grip. I've used the rod for everything from bass to muskie and it has always performed well.

The two spincast reels I use are both closed face. One is a Zebeo model 33 wound with eight-pound test triline monofilament line and the other is a Johnson model 710 rigged with 10 or 12 pound braided dacron line.

The only problem I've encountered is locating the braided dacron line, which I like because it's smooth casting, resists curling and kinking and holds up well through repeated use. I haven't been able to find it in any decent tackle shops and have had to order it directly from Gudebrod.

When it comes to picking out my artificial lures, I prefer ones that can handle minnows on occasion without affecting the lure's action. Assorted spoons, bucktails,

Here's a great tip for all you golfers — The immortal Walter Hagen, who was one of the top golfers of all-time, once said that the one piece of philosophy that helped him more than anything else was this thought which he always kept in mind: "The thought is this — 'There's no such thing as a perfect round of golf. It's normal to make some bad shots. When you make a bad shot, force yourself to forget it and go on to the next shot.'"

Hagen said surprisingly few people do this, but if you adopt this philosophy, you'll automatically be a better golfer.

North girls 2nd, Madison 3rd in track

GCHS North's girls' track team won five events to earn 64 points and place second in a triangle meet Thursday at Madison High School. Alton won with 72 points and Madison was third with 19.

Steele winners were Ronda Schillinger (220-yard dash) 29.5 seconds, Kay Marcum (110 hurdles) 17.1 seconds, Margie Verschul (80 hurdles) 11 seconds, Connie Morrison (discus) 69 feet, five inches, and Carol Grisham (shot put) 30.4. Madison's 440-yard relay squad won with a time of 57.4 seconds.

I do, however, always carry a small plastic box containing a variety of hooks and leaders. Also, two braided rope stringers are included. One is used for bass, walleye and small northern and the other is kept for larger northern and musky.

A chain and wire clip stringer is never used. Fish sometimes injure themselves while thrashing about on such stringers and sometimes they even escape.

When panfishing, I like to use a mesh basket that mounts on the side of the boat. The basket eliminates the possibility of injury and allows the angler to lose the fish in the basket and get his pole back in the water quickly.

Also, fishermen shouldn't leave home without a sharp pocket knife and a pair of needle-nose pliers.

When fishing with live minnows use only a styrofoam minnow bucket. The styrofoam bucket tends to maintain an even water temperature, something the metal buckets do not. Especially during the summer, minnows taken from cold water at a bait shop need a styrofoam bucket. The sun beating down on the metal quickly warms the water and literally cooks the fish. Placing the mesh liner of a metal bucket in the lake water isn't always the answer to the heat problem.

Often the shock from the temperature change kills the minnows.

Steelerettes achieve basketball tourney consolation championship

GCHS North's Steelerette eagers overcame strong challenges from a persistent Alton Marquette High School team Thursday night at the North gymnasium to capture consolation honors in an eight-school girls tournament hosted by North. Final score was 42-32.

Both sides hit on four field goals in the opening quarter for a tie score, and North held an 18-16 halftime lead.

Marquette trailed 27-23 going into the final quarter, and took advantage of Marquette fouls to preserve its lead. North hit seven charity tosses to the foe's one in the final period.

North's Sue Leibold paced the Steelerettes in scoring with 15 points, and the tall player controlled the boards with 25 rebounds.

Joy Pierson provided 10 points, Jan Rose nine, Cheryl Schofield six and Tracy McIntyre, two.

The tourney, which began early last week, saw Alton High sweep through the winners' bracket, capturing the championship Thursday night with a 67-49 win over O'Fallon.

O'Fallon earlier in the tourney had handed Triad its first loss of the season in a semifinal contest, ending Triad's season with an 11-1 record.

GCHS South concluded its 1976 season with an 8-4 record after bowing out of competition with a 61-54 championship semifinal loss to the eventual tourney titlist. North High concluded with a 6-6 mark.

The tournament provided area fans with a mini-view of possibly what may be expected during 1977 post-season play when the Illinois High School Association will present the first-ever girls' state basketball tournament in Horton House on the campus of Illinois State University, Normal. Dates are April 1-2, 1977.

Car funny but fast

Fred Mandoline, in an alcohol-running funny car with a damaged body that threatened to blow off, defeated 15 other funny cars to win the opening meet of the points circuit yesterday at St. Louis International Raceway.

His car's lightweight fiberglass body broke loose from a hinge and dropped onto a wheel on the starting line in the quarterfinal round. Despite the broken hinge, Mandoline made a high-speed run to advance to the semifinals.

In that round, Mandoline appeared with the body temporarily fastened to the frame, but even he admitted he did not know if the car would hold together. It did, and he won to advance to the finals against John Thompson's funny car.

On the final run, Mandoline completed the quarter-mile in 7.66 seconds while Thompson required 7.86 seconds.

The cool track surface was blamed for tires slipping. This caused several of the funny cars to bring the day to a career at the track surface and into the dirt, precariously near the outer guard rails, but there were no accidents.

Steve Pierson, Florissant, Mo., won street eliminator, defeating Ralph Underwood in the finals. Chester James on a Honda stopped Butch Pace to win bike eliminator.

Ron Mayfield of West Plains, Mo., was undefeated during the day to win eliminator after meeting Rich Thomas of St. Louis in the finals. Thomas is a well-known race car engine builder and had to race against several cars using engines he prepared.

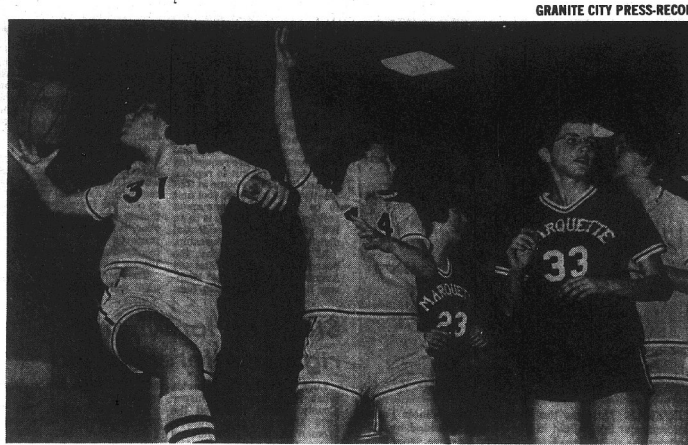

John Kaiman of Berkeley, Mo., topped Mike Bolinger to win the selectra eliminator class.

Shutout win

GCHS South shut out visiting Jacksonwood Saturday 9-0 in tennis.

Jim Frost won 6-0, 6-0, Mike Papes 6-1, 6-0, Kevin Worster 4-5, 6-2, 6-2, Andy Hall 6-1, 6-1, Ron Backs 6-2, 6-0 and Tom Boker 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles competition saw Worster-Mike Hays win 6-2, 6-2, Mark Krinski-Jeff Hagopian 6-3, 6-0 and Larry Ferrere-Jim Ertimoff 6-4, 6-1.

FOUL DURING REBOUNDING nullified this recovery of a missed field goal attempt by GCHS North's Jan Rose (31) during a girls' basketball tournament contest here Thursday night, won by North 42-32 over Alton Marquette. Other North players visible are Tracy McIntyre (44) and Sue Leibold (behind Marquette's 33).

BREAK IN THE ACTION is called by GCHS North Coach Wanda Carroll (right) during the consolation title basketball game here Thursday night against Alton Marquette. The score was tied 12-12. The North Steelerettes won 42-32. Listening intently is Cheryl Schofield (25). Sue Leibold is 41 and Joy Pierson is 42.

9-1, 4-3 losses by Steelers

North High School of Granite City lost a baseball twinbill Saturday on the diamond at McClellan North High School, 9-1 and 4-3.

In the first contest, two McClellan pitchers fanned 17 batters and avoided giving up a hit. Steeler Larry Schleicher took the loss.

North's run came in the opening inning when Richard Schmidt walked, score second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on a grounder, when an infielder mishandled the ball.

McCluer tallied runs in the first and second innings, three in the fourth and four in the school fifth. The Steelers collected two hits in the second game.

GCHS North went ahead 2-1 in the second frame when Schleicher walked and advanced on a passed ball, Jody Falloni singled, Chris Page walked and Dave Goodyear grounded out.

McCluer scored twice in the third, but the Steelers tied the game in the seventh when Schleicher singled to center and rounded the bases as the ball went through the opposing fielder's legs. The St. Louis team scored again in that inning for the winning margin.

Drainage issue in Nameoki Township April 12 and 13

A Nameoki Township highway budget increase proposal of $15,210 for drainage improvements continues to be studied by the Nameoki Township Board, which will decide at a meeting April 12.

Highway Department budgets are expected to total $213,550 and the $15,210 could be included in that amount without increasing it, it was contended at last week's public budget hearing. Those speaking included Supervisor Louis Whitsell.

Whitsell noted the budgets do not have to be adopted until the next regular meeting April 12 and suggested the board use his estimates as "food for thought" on a possible drainage appropriation.

He also said some additional financial aid for drainage programs may be made available in the township's federal revenue sharing budget which will be posted for public inspection following the April 13 annual town meeting.

The board studied the tentative highway budgets item by item at Tuesday night's public hearing and made only one change, increasing the appropriation for auditing in the general road fund from $800 to $850.

The change increased the total for the general road fund budget to $93,550, up $5,350 from last year's budget. The special hard road budget was left unchanged at $110,000, up $24,000 from last year.

Also left unchanged was $10,000 for municipal retirement, up $1,000 from last year.

One change was made in the general road fund which did not affect the totals. The board questioned a $1,200 appropriation for rental in the fund, noting the highway department does not pay rental on the town garage, since it is provided by the township.

At Whitsell's suggestion, the board kept the $1,200 in the budget, but changed the category from rental to "utilities." Whitsell suggested the highway commissioner pay the township $100 per month from that budget item to help pay the cost of lights, heating and air conditioning at the township office and garage.

Whitsell noted the special hard road budget will be approved only if township voters approve continuing the special tax of 16.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The electors will vote on a five-year extension of that tax during the April 13 annual town meeting. That meeting will begin at 7 p.m. on that date at the town hall, 4250 Highway 182.

Appeals board hearings set

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct five on-site hearings in Quad-City area townships Thursday and Friday.

The first hearing will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at 4208 Division St., where Kenneth W. and Mary Ann Hodge are requesting a special use permit to replace the existing mobile home at that location with a 14 by 70 foot unit to be used as a permanent residence. The property is in an R-3 single family residential district of Nameoki Township.

At 10:35 a.m. Thursday, the board will meet on Missouri Avenue across from 2543 Highway 3 in the Bloodworth Subdivision where Francis Rubing is requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for a watchman-caretaker for the property and business on the site. The property is in an R-3 district of Venice Township.

At 11 a.m. Thursday, a hearing will be held at 205 Harrison St., Eagle Park Acres, where Ulys and Alice Hoult are requesting a special use permit to continue the placement of a mobile home. A former five-year permit is expiring. The property is in an R-4 single family residential district in Venice Township.

The Zoning Board of Appeals also will hold two hearings

Friday on requests for special use permits.

At 9:15 a.m. Friday, a hearing will be held at 2022 Alton Ave., in the Cloverleaf Addition, where Eugene and Josephine Bluhm are requesting a permit to establish and operate a cafe and a separate permit to continue to use rooms in the rear for apartments. The property is in an R-4 single family residential district of Nameoki Township.

The board will reconvene at 11:40 a.m. Friday at 2707 Whippoorwill Lane in the Parkview Estates Subdivision near Mockingbird Lane where Majoria Stevenson, owner, and Vinco Geromino, purchaser, are requesting a permit to establish and operate a day-care home in an existing residence. The property is in an R-3 district of Nameoki Township.

Stand up for what is right, conference told

Luck did not make America what it is today, a Jasper County woman reminded the 1976 Illinois Farm Bureau Women's leadership conference in late March at Springfield. Taking the conference theme, "Freedom for our Future," Mrs. Norma Eaton of Newton, attorney and world traveler, stressed that three ingredients were involved in the making of America.

"First of all, there was the land, with abundant resources."

"Secondly, a people with ideas who were not afraid to carry them out, not afraid to work."

"Thirdly, an economic system which rewarded them for their hard work, their brilliant ideas, their determination."

Mrs. Eaton asked: "Are we as a nation soft?" She said she still believes that, when it comes down to a time when Americans have to stand up and be strong, they will do it.

"But it's important that we Americans not become soft — not become so dependent on handouts from the federal government that we don't want to work," she said.

"You must be a strong person, you must stand up for what is right and not be afraid. And this is what we must teach our young people today."

COMMUNITY RECYCLING PROGRAM (CRP) - now available to Quad-City area residents, is described by David Lehn, CRP coordinator, for fifth and sixth grade students at McKinley School. The recycling collection center, located at Niedringhaus Avenue and Adams Street (opposite Prairie Farms Dairy, Inc.), is a joint project of Coordinated Youth Services and the Madison County Office of Manpower Development. Glass, cans and newspapers are accepted at the center. Lehn told the children.

Children learn benefits of recycling

Children in the fifth and sixth grade classes at McKinley School were introduced to conservation through recycling in a program presented by David Lehn, coordinator of the Community Recycling Program (CRP).

Recycling is the process of reusing materials which normally would be thrown away and, in a basic sense, means looping material back into the process by which it was formed, Lehn explained.

Glass jars and bottles, usually discarded, now can be made into a new and useful product and at a lesser cost than a glass container made from new materials, he told the youngsters. The Community

Recycling Program is doing just that, he added.

For the recycling program to contribute the greatest possible benefit to the community it is vitally important to obtain the widest possible community involvement, Lehn said, adding it takes only one minute a day to be involved.

"The CRP gives each person an opportunity to recycle and, as we become more conscious of the solid waste problem and the tremendous cost it imposes on society, the only real solution is recycling," the coordinator noted.

Lehn said the Greater St. Louis region alone generates over 1,000,000 tons of household refuse yearly and only 1 per cent of this solid waste is recycled.

National statistics are even more alarming, the speaker reported, noting over 360 million tons of household, commercial and industrial solid waste is disposed of annually at a cost of over 4 billion dollars to taxpayers.

The ensuing problem is even worse, Lehn continued. Growth of solid waste outpaces our population growth. People are increasing at the rate of 1 per cent, but solid waste is increasing at 4 to 6 per cent annually.

While it may not be the complete answer to the solid waste problem, recycling is the best interim solution. The success of the Community Recycling Program depends on you, your parents and your friends, Lehn said. "We need your family's cooperation to help spread the word, but more important, we need you to begin recycling your glass, cans and newspapers."

"Only with the help of everyone within the community will we be able to preserve our natural resources and prolong the lives of the landfills."

Lehn said special thanks are due to several people who have donated "their time and energy to assist the CRP." He cited Lionel Portell, Granite City superintendent of streets, Jim Slack, Jerry Lakin and Charlie Sampson.

The Community Recycling Program is made possible by the joint effort of Coordinated Youth Services and the Office of Manpower Development in Madison County, headed by Dan Churuvich.

Further information about the program may be obtained by calling Lehn at 878-2083 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ONE OF 10. This pier, framed by trees, leads to one of the Chain O' Lakes from a campground frequented by Illinois families and hunters but once the sanctuary of countless Indian tribes.

Chain O' Lakes rich in history

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois' state parks and memorials.

By JOAN MURARO

CHICAGO — Indiana, early white settlers and the CCC all have used the area known today as the Chain O' Lakes, the largest concentration of natural lakes in Illinois.

Located in a series of depressions and indentations left when the last glaciers pulled back, the chain is located 20 miles west of Lake Michigan, four miles south of the Illinois-Wisconsin border and includes 10 lakes.

Only three are in Chain O'Lakes state park. The park is in McHenry and Lake counties and now has a 1,541-acre park and a 3,220-acre conservation area, primarily in fresh water bog over deep peat deposits.

The gentle sloping terrain is covered with varying densities of timber such as Scotch pine, oak, cherry, hickory, elm, birch, sunac and spruce. The timber shelter chipmunks, ground squirrels, gophers, deer, rabbits, mink, opossum, skunk, raccoons and fox. The area is intersected by the Fox River, which cuts the region from north to south, then flows into the lakes.

Chain O'Lakes State Park borders Grass, Marie and Bluff Lakes, with Grass Lake famed for its lotus beds. Also in the chain but outside the state park area are Fox, Pistakee, Channel, Petite, Catherine, Nippersink and Redhead Lakes. They have a combined total of 8,465 acres of water and 468 miles of shoreline.

The first white men to come into the area, about 1535, found Indians of the Algonquin linguistic family living there. Woodland Indians who had been pushed from the area of Quebec and Montreal by the Iroquois. The large groups were Fox and Sauk, but there were Monomonees, Winnebagoes, Potawatomi, and some Ottawa and Chippewa, living in bark wigwags which they made by bending poles into dome shapes, then covering them with bark or mats made of woven cattail stalks.

On Crabapple Island they used the fertile soil for gardening and the strategic location of the island as a base for exacting tribute from other tribes wishing to use the channel.

Joliet and Marquette traveled along the Fox River in 1637, the first white men to explore the area in canoes. In the '30s, a CCC camp at the site became the Chain O'Lakes conservation area and this, in 1957, became the state park.

Water-oriented activities predominate, with boat rentals, docks, fishing piers and two launching ramps available. There is no limit on motor size and fishermen have good luck with bluegill, walleye, crappie, bass, northern pike, catfish and bullhead.

There are seven sites for tent or trailer camping, with their own picnic areas and a modern shower building. Trailers will find a limited amount of electricity and two sanitary stations. The Oak Point campground on the Fox River has free boat launching ramps.

For picnics, there are several areas with tables, outdoor stoves, water and toilets scattered through the park, as well as one pavilion, varieties of playground equipment and a concession stand.

During pheasant season, hunting is by permit only in the conservation area which adjoins the park. During hunting season the park is closed for other activities.

During the winter, if weather conditions favor ice buildup, ice skating and ice fishing are permitted, and sledding is popular at the park.

During the summer months, state conservation department personnel are available to provide interpretive nature experiences for visitors.

As in all conservation department properties, groups of 25 or more must register in advance, and groups with youngsters must have at least one responsible adult for every 15 minors. Campers register and secure a permit from the park staff.

Additional information about the Chain O'Lakes site can be obtained from the Ranger, at Box 423A, Spring Grove, 60081, or the Department of Conservation offices in the state office building, Springfield, 62706.

Price urges funds for area flood control

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) last week requested appropriations totaling $10,455,000 for five public works programs "vital to the St. Clair-Madison County area."

In a statement to the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works, Rep. Price listed the following projects "as crucial to the 23rd Congressional District."

The Kaskaskia River Navigation project, $6,222,000 for construction and operation and maintenance; The Mississippi River Navigation project, $3,500,000 for construction; the Wood River

Drainage and Levee District interior flood drainage project, $100,000 for advance engineering and design.

The Blue Waters Ditch interior flood control project, $500,000 for advance engineering and design; and the Silver Creek flood control project, $138,000 for completion of the general project study.

In his remarks on the two navigation programs, Cong. Price reiterated strong support for the Alton Lock and Dam 26 modernization program. It is an integral part of the Mississippi River navigation system which is basic to the movement of goods essential to our national economy," he said.

Because of pending litigation, the fiscal 1977 budget does not include funds for the project. Nonetheless, Rep. Price told his House colleagues: "I look forward to appearing before this subcommittee again in support of funds for it."

The three flood control projects, Price stressed, "afford needed protection for the people of the two-county area." With increasing urbanization in the area, Price noted, "the project requirements are changing to the extent that different land use patterns are emerging."

It is necessary therefore to approve these studies and design funds in order to obtain the most adequate interior flood control protection possible with the limited dollars available."

Rebecca Halbrook weds Pvt. Kerry J. Johnson

The wedding of Miss Rebecca M. Halbrook, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Halbrook, 3272 Edgewood Ave., and Army Private Kerry J. Johnson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 4857 Walter Ave., was solemnized March 20 at Trinity United Methodist Church.

White bows on the pews and altar arrangements of mint green, yellow and white flowers, interspersed with greenery, provided the setting for the double ring ceremony, performed at 6 o'clock in the evening by the Rev. Ellis H. Dugger.

Organist Miss Karen Fisher accompanied Miss Sandy Baker as she sang "Time in a Bottle" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Halbrook wore a full-length organza over taffeta gown with Chantilly lace accenting the bodice, the full bishop sleeves and cuffs.

Lace medallions, centered with a cluster of pearls, enhanced the high lace neckline and sheer yoke.

Lace motifs were applied on the skirt which terminated with a deep chiffon ruffle, edged with matching lace.

Her elbow-length veil was bordered with lace and secured to a Juliet lace cap, etched with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and white pom poms, intermingled with greenery.

Maid of honor Miss Carol Roberts and bridesmaids Miss Pam Hessler and Miss Kristie Johnson, a sister of the groom, chose identical mint green polyester dresses.

Their gowns were fashioned with V-necklines and worn with ruffled capes which formed the sleeves. Each attendant wore a pastel green picture hat with a forest green ribbon and carried a bouquet of green fufu, yellow pom poms and white blossoms.

The groom chose his brother, Terry Johnson, as his best man. Danny Waugh and Woody Halbrook, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen.

Escorting the guests were Kevin Johnson and Lanny Rainwater, a cousin and uncle of the groom, respectively.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Polish Hall in Madison. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, parents of the groom, hosted the rehearsal dinner.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Halbrook selected a long sleeveless gown in coral, complemented with a long-sleeved jacket featuring cuffs trimmed with feathers.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the groom, was attired in a blue chiffon gown, designed in Empire style with angel sleeves.

Both wore corsages of white roses.

The bridal couple both graduated from Granite City High School. The bride attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she was a junior student studying elementary and special education. She also was employed at Central Hardware and as a receptionist for Dr. Frank Diomedea.

The groom attended Lewis and Clark Community College for one year and SIUE for one year prior to entering the U. S. Army. He took basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and advanced training at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. He is now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where the couple is now residing.

PRIVATE AND MRS. KERRY J. JOHNSON.

They were united in marriage at Trinity United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Rebecca M. Halbrook, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Halbrook, 3272 Edgewood Ave.

Bishop to attend confirmation

Mrs. Mary Blankenship, president of St. Elizabeth Altar Society, announced Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas of Springfield will be present at the confirmation services at 7:30 p.m. April 21 at the church. Refreshments will be served after the service.

Mrs. Catherine Ponce, chairman, reported the annual Palm Sunday bake sale will be held April 10 and 11, with coffee served following all masses.

Other reports were submitted by Mrs. Rosalie Bronnbauer, secretary and Mrs. Agnes Friedel, treasurer. Mrs. Sheila Potter, school liaison co-chairmen, said volunteers are needed in the school's Learning Center on a daily basis.

Prizes during the evening were won by Margaret Waller, a quilt and Mrs. Opal Lapinski, an Afghan. An Easter basket decorated and donated by Brownie Troop 438 was awarded to Rosalia Johannmeyer. Mrs. Sylvia Windfield received the madonna and a special prize was won by Mrs. Jessie Tackaberry.

After the business meeting, Don Watson of Creative Travel Center showed a film, entitled "Voyage to Bermuda," and gave a short talk.

Hostesses Mrs. Sheila Potter and Mrs. Carolyn Campos served refreshments to 43 members.

Comment and analysis

April 5, 1976

Harold Fischer, Ernest Karandjef, John Page Wham honored for helping to make local university a reality

As Dr. Andrew J. Kochman, acting president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said here Friday night, SIUE "could not have happened" without such effective leaders as the three honored at this community's tenth anniversary "salute to SIUE."

He commented, "SIUE would not exist were it not for the action of our Board of Trustees. John Page Wham was chairman of the board when the plan to develop SIUE was adopted, and that barely scratches the surface of his dedicated service to the development of the institution."

"Another long-time former member of our Board of Trustees is Harold R. Fischer. Over his 21 years of service, he showed constant dedication to the growth of the university and also to the Mississippi River Festival."

"Without the efforts of Ernest A. Karandjef, we probably wouldn't have a campus, or at least we wouldn't have the splendid site on which we now operate. Mr. Karandjef led the community fund drive in the Tri-Cities area for the purchase of campus land."

The dinner gathering at Granite City High School South appropriately called attention to the achievements of the three honorees as well as the active role by many other area citizens and educators in helping to meet this region's long need for a high-quality institution of higher learning.

Further illustrating and analyzing the good that has been accomplished here are words voiced by the late SIUE President John Rendleman at the 1975 convocation opening the tenth anniversary celebration: "The community support that brought us into being is still strong. The phrase used in regard to this institution is that we 'started from scratch.' I would rather think that we originated from an itch."

"It was not an itch in the citizens for the presence of pure knowledge and sophisticated scholarly research in their midst. Nor do I think that the irritant asked for political reform in the sense that we would provide political mayors and legislators to bring about a more perfect society. This community was itching for opportunity."

"The second most populous area of Illinois was also the most neglected from the point of view of availability of higher education. We came to end that neglect."

County hopes its Republican Party can regain strength

Because the two-party system can have the effect of encouraging able candidates, it would be helpful if the Madison County Republican Party works to become stronger and better organized than it was under the chairmanship of Charles O'Neil.

Whether the new chairman, Dr. Edward Ragdale, 37-year-old Godfrey radiologist, can lead the way toward a more visible and viable GOP remains to be seen. We wish him well.

We would have preferred if all area leaders like George Stirling of Granite City and Bob Barton of Namecki Township had been accorded a friendlier reception at last week's county Republican reorganization meeting; the last thing the minority party needs is further fragmentation.

Nevertheless, the Ragdale leadership would appear to have a real chance for success if it makes known to all voters—Republicans, independents and Democrats—that it is serious about assembling an effective organization in every precinct.

The county Republican party has a big "credibility gap" but could eliminate it through positive action.

Miscellany
Locks handle immense volume

How important is it that river facilities like Locks and Dam 27 at Granite City and Locks and Dam 26 at Alton be kept in adequate operating condition?

The view of John E. Harvey of the Archer-Daniels-Midland Co., which has plant operations in the Quad-Cities, was voiced at a meeting held on the future of the Alton dam and locks, an American Waterways Operators report shows.

Reconstruction of new locks two miles south of the present Alton location has been proposed by the Army Engineer Corps but has been delayed by court action initiated by railroads and environmental groups.

The impact of the transportation asset is described by Harvey as follows:

"I would like to offer two premises. Assume that as of noon today, Locks and Dam 26 is closed for a one-year period; total navigation is closed."

"Also assume the products that have been moved, just using 1973 data only. Let's see what railroads could do."

"If the railroads in this next 365-day period were required to move that tonnage over the Upper Mississippi River, the Illinois River in 1973 and at a time of very serious car shortage, they would have to acquire an additional 14,400 tank cars just to move the liquid products."

"They would have to acquire an additional 24,000 covered hopper cars just to move the grain and soybeans."

"They would have to acquire an additional 12,000 open hoppers to move the coal, the sand and aggregates and the fertilizers."

"They would have to acquire an additional 760 air slide cars to move just the sugar."

"This comes to approximately 52,000 cars. Using only a $25,000 investment per car, we are talking an investment of $1.3 billion in a 12-month period."

A GROWING LIST of minorities, some of them actually majorities, is being provided employment opportunity protection by Uncle Sam.

The United States has "a strong moral as well as legal commitment to assure equity in employment," new Secretary of Labor W. J. Casey Jr. said in March at an international meeting in Paris.

Speaking before labor ministers and managers of 21 industrial nations at a meeting of the Organization for Economic Development and Cooperation, Casey cited two main thrusts in U.S. efforts to help disadvantaged workers confronted by economic or social barriers to employment.

Desire

The first, Casey said, is to enforce legislation and government regulations prohibiting discrimination because of race, sex, religion, national origin, age or mental or physical handicaps.

The second major thrust is to increase the skill level and employability of disadvantaged workers. Casey said Manpower development programs, he noted, have been a powerful instrument for redressing many of the imbalances caused by discrimination.

The Labor secretary said that, in the United States, efforts to assist the disadvantaged are centered in the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

Programs providing a broad range of services are administered by state and local governmental units which are intended to have the flexibility to respond to local needs, he said, adding that funds are provided through federal government grants.

Casey said disadvantaged youths, whose year-round high unemployment rates worsen in the summer, will continue receiving "priority attention" in training and employment programs at the national level.

Other special programs will focus on the needs of women, minority groups, veterans, ex-offenders, Indians, migrant workers and other groups with job market problems, he said. Saying that the commitment of federal, state and local officials to improve employment opportunities for all workers remains high, Casey added that development of effective programs is made difficult during high unemployment periods.

"But the challenge will be met," he concluded.

REDUCED PENSION BENEFITS

Noncompliance with physicians' instructions—another cause of undermedication—results from such factors as poor communications between doctor and patient, misunderstanding or noncomprehension, carelessness or just plain forgetfulness.

Statistics have frequently been misinterpreted by those who contend the American people are overmedicated, it is contended.

For example, overall production and consumption increases for prescription medicines do not automatically point to greater usage by individuals.

On a per capita basis, Americans received an average of 6.5 prescriptions in 1973, compared to 5.7 in 1960.

This increase is called unremarkable in that people are receiving more medical treatment because of (1) more sophisticated diagnostic procedures and new drug entities to treat previously untreatable conditions, (2) more publicly funded programs, bringing care to people who had little or none, (3) more persons in age groups that require the most treatment, (4) changing patterns in treatment, from inpatient to out-patient care or (5) changes in federal regulations to require new prescriptions instead of refills.

Current production of pharmaceuticals or numbers of prescriptions, therefore, may not be providing all Americans with anywhere near optimal medical care—not when millions of persons suffer in incapacitation and risk of premature death because they are untreated.

For many of them, medicines would be an important part of treatment.

UNDER-USE OF DRUGS? Pharmaceutical manufacturers say we have an "undermedicated society." It's hardly news that America has a severe drug problem for years—excessive use of alcohol and even certain legal drugs in both cities and suburbs.

Another drug problem continues to exist but remains largely unnoticed, the drug phenomenon, which is not unique to the United States, exists for a variety of reasons. Some people do not seek medical attention because they do not recognize disease symptoms; others are concerned about the cost of care, or lack access to a physician.

Language barriers and cultural or religious differences help still others from seeking help.

Next big shortage will be raw materials

(American Association for the Advancement of Science) Supplies of raw materials, like energy resources, may be in short supply during the coming decades, warns a panel of contributors to the "Science" weekly journal.

Although society has generally taken for granted the availability of adequate supplies of raw materials, several developments over the last few years indicate that supplies are increasingly unrealistic.

Among these are the trend toward nationalization of foreign-owned mining properties or other measures that give effective control over natural resources to the host country; high energy prices resulting from the depletion of oil and gas; and the recovery of some low-grade ores, and force reclamation of land for intensive processing methods, especially in primary metal.

New concern about the environmental impact of mining, lumbering and materials processing, and the depletion of materials that make raising capital difficult; and increasing restriction of access to resources on public lands.

Viewing the world materials situation, Philip H. Abelson, Science editor, and Allen L. Hammond, Science research news editor, conclude in the issue that "these developments have created conditions dramatically different from those of a decade ago—a new world of materials."

"What is perhaps most remarkable," they suggest, "is that their cumulative impact has not yet disrupted the supply of materials in a major way."

Abelson and Hammond point out that the United States imports more than half its supply of some two dozen important materials, including aluminum, tin, chromium and asbestos.

The effects of a sudden cutoff of a few key materials could be extremely disruptive. While stockpiles of the most vulnerable materials should be maintained, they observe that sources of supply can be developed over time for many of them.

Materials that serve the same function can be brought into use.

They note there is still time to develop the requisite technology for a number of materials before the country is faced with cutoffs or drastic price increases.

"The long-term prospect for expanded supplies of raw materials is mixed at best," suggest Abelson and Hammond.

To the Editor: I am thankful to all of the people in the Tri-City area who supported me in the March 16 Democratic primary for state representative.

It is only natural that many people here and in Edwardsville and in Alton supported their home-town candidates.

However, as state senator, Sam Vadalabene does a good job of representing the entire district and not just Edwardsville. As state representative, I, too, will do my best to represent all parts of the 50th District.

Although it is extremely gratifying to win, one soon realizes that in a democracy, it is not so much an individual who wins as it is the ideas and ideals that the individual stands for. The real winners are those who share the same philosophy and choose to voice their opinion by their vote.

My ideals are very basic—life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness and the compassion needed to insure that every American shares in the good of the job I will have will be state representative.

The most frustrating problem a citizen encounters when dealing with state government is knowing who to contact. Your state representative is your link to Springfield. I will be available without appointment to everyone in the district 12 months of the year.

Concerned people working together can build a better tomorrow. This district will share in that better tomorrow because the people here care.

Reports vibrations near furnace

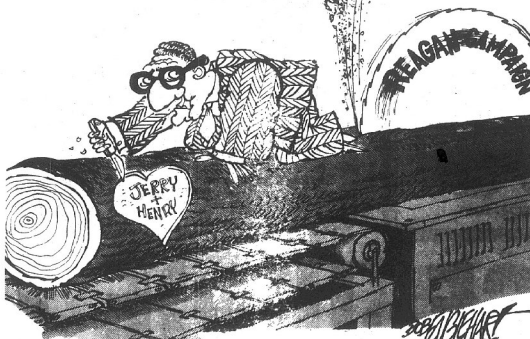

To the Editor: Living in the area near the Granite City Steel basic oxygen furnace, I would like to know how we could ever be able to tell if there was an earth tremor.

With all the vibrations we get,

we would never know it. Our homes and people are shaking most of the time.

It's so bad it even wakes us up at night. Our property is being wrecked.

Questions effectiveness of instruction

To the Editor: Only one per cent of the nation's 17-year-olds can balance a checkbook correctly, and only ten per cent can compute a tax fare.

Nearly half of last year's college freshmen were so seriously deficient at organizing their thoughts on paper that they were forced to enroll in remedial courses nicknamed "Boredom English."

These reports lead me to question the quality of education in public schools. Local public school officials do not publish any facts to enable the taxpayer to determine the effectiveness of the local system. A number of the surrounding communities publish the collective results of the achievement ACT and SAT tests administered to students.

Several local school officials have told me that they do not think the local public would be interested in these test scores for Granite City students. Many formal educators attribute lack of skills to "our children" watching too much television." This line of reasoning would lead us to conclude that we no longer speak or teach our children to speak because of radio, what nonsense!

Others allude to "permissive" and "rigid" homes as the culprits. Surely the schools play a major role in producing these "permissive" and "rigid" homes, as every child in the United States is compelled by law to spend at least 10 years of his life in our schools.

I have little confidence in school officials and teachers who set aside smoking areas in high school grounds for students; set final examination policies which could result in an "A" student being required to take final examinations and those with lower grades being excused.

Encourage children to attend school when they are ill; do not require periodic written evaluations of teachers and administrators; support teachers in other communities who strike in defiance of court orders; and set school policy which in my opinion encourages our children to disobey the laws of this state.

It is of crucial importance to our children that citizens know and vote for the school board candidate of their choice on April 10.

Our children will be unable to learn to read, write and compute if they are forced to contend with inferior adult leadership and incompetent teachers in our public schools.

Need ballroom for 30-and-older

To the Editor: I have been reading in the Press-Record about Rico's II. I am wondering if somebody could turn that building into a ballroom for persons over 30 years old.

It would really bring pleasure to a lot of people. We could enjoy great music, like Joni

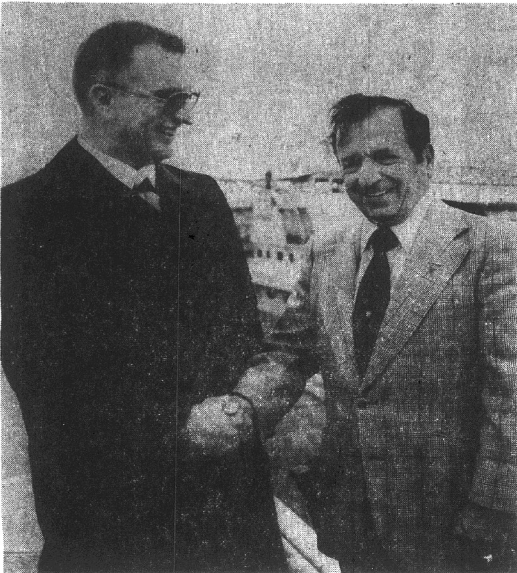

James. We would enjoy such music very much, and it would provide a place to dance and spend an evening on weekends.

Everything in this town is for the 18-29 age group. I think we should also have our chance. There is a ballroom in Collinsville and a Rico's in Belleville where those 30 and older are welcomed. Why not in Granite City?

There is Charlie's, but take a good look at their dance area on Fridays and Saturdays. Their floor is too small.

ALTON DAM REPLACEMENT is the topic of Guy Jester, left, president of the Association for Improvement of the Mississippi River, and Illinois State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), right, who are shown as they inspected Locks and Dam 26 at Alton last week. Vadalabene gave Jester a certified copy of an Illinois Senate resolution urging replacement of the deteriorating locks and dam as soon as possible. Sen. Vadalabene reports that conditions at the locks during their visit emphasized the need for new installations. Fourteen tows upstream and five downstream were waiting to go through the locks. Some towsboats had been delayed more than 50 hours because lock repairs were being made. Sen. Vadalabene sponsored the resolution, which was passed unanimously. The Missouri House of Representatives previously passed a resolution calling for replacement of Locks and Dam 26. Early action by Congress is being sought on a proposal to build two 1,200-foot locks and a new dam two miles downstream from the present facilities.

Former missionary to address service clubs

The Rev. John F. Seibert, pastor of three Alton area churches and a former missionary to India for 17 years, will be the featured speaker at the annual Maundy Thursday (April 15) fellowship luncheon for area service clubs, businessmen and others at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Members of local men's service clubs have convened each Easter time for the past 22 years at the special luncheon meeting.

Taking part will be members of the Granite City Kiwanis, Madison Lions, Granite City and Madison-Venice Rotary and the Granite City Optimist Club.

The Rev. Seibert will address the group at noon, lunch will be served at 12:35 p.m., followed with a fellowship-social hour, according to the Rev. David B. Maston, pastor of the host church.

An Army combat veteran with service in Europe and the Philippines during World War II, the Rev. Seibert remained in the U. S. Army Reserves for nine years and was recalled for seven months duty during the Korean War.

He is a native of St. Louis and was reared in Carbondale. He received a B.Sc. degree in aeronautical maintenance-engineering at Parks Air College (St. Louis University) and a second B.Sc. degree in industrial education from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The Rev. Seibert spent two years in theological studies at the Austin (Tex.) Presbyterian Theological Seminary and his final year of theology at San Francisco Presbyterian Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, Calif.

The minister's first pastorate was with the Board of National Missions in Anchorage, Alaska. The mission congregation became financially self-supporting in 16 months and he continued serving there for another year until a new pastor arrived at the church.

The Rev. Seibert and his wife were then transferred to the Board of Foreign Missions with assignment in Sangli, India, where he became principal and treasurer of the Sangli Industrial School, a post in which he remained for most of his years in India.

In November 1975, he accepted the pastorate of the Zion Presbyterian church in the Alton area. He also serves on the Presbytery's Commission on Evangelism.

The Seiberts are the parents of three children. Their eldest son, Mark, is in his senior year at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Their daughter, Ann, also is a senior at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. The youngest son, Karl, is a sophomore at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill.

Shriners seek blood for burned children

The Shriners Blood Bank program to aid burned children is scheduled Tuesday, April 13, at Nameoki United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Murdock Avenue.

Avery Schermer, Blood Bank chairman, said the public is invited to participate. Contributing blood on April 13 serves a two-fold purpose, the chairman said. "Your donation ensures an emergency blood Blood donations will be taken from 2 p.m. until 6:45 p.m. April 13. Individuals wishing to make an appointment for a specific time, to avoid waiting may call Schermer at 452-7194.

Murder

Madison County Jail at Edwardsville in lieu of posting bond.

Madison officers are continuing to search for Mr. Riddle's 22 caliber pistol which is believed to be the murder weapon, but Detective Paul Bargiel told the Press-Record Friday, "There has been information given us that the gun is the (Mississippi) river."

The detective said he has questioned Mrs. Riddle about the shootings on four occasions, but probably will not be able to fully determine what happened in the Riddle home until after Mrs. Riddle has sufficiently recovered from her wounds and is able to give a full interview.

She suffered a bullet wound to her abdomen with damage to some internal organs and underwent surgery at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, where her condition is improving.

Bargiel said he spoke to Mrs. Riddle at the scene of the shootings while awaiting an ambulance, and then spoke with her at St. Elizabeth Hospital and a third time following surgery at Jewish Hospital. He returned to Jewish Hospital Friday afternoon to discuss more details of the case.

He declined to disclose specific statements made by Mrs. Riddle, Baker or the juvenile girls, but said the interviews and the evidence the department has gathered indicates three youths entered the Riddle home through an unlocked kitchen door with the intent of robbing the couple.

They did not have a weapon, Bargiel said, adding the robbery was allegedly to be a "strongarm robbery."

It is believed Mr. Riddle resisted and opened a kitchen drawer to get his gun and defend himself. There was a struggle over the gun during which it discharged, police believe.

It is then alleged the gun was taken away from Mr. Riddle and used to shoot the dog once or twice, Mr. Riddle two or three times and then Mrs. Riddle once.

Two slugs were removed from Mr. Riddle's chest and abdomen, but he also suffered injuries, possibly from the same bullets, to a hip, left forearm and left ring finger. The shot which struck the finger was believed fired at very close range due to gunpowder burns on Mr. Riddle's left hand, Bargiel disclosed.

Another slug was removed from Mrs. Riddle and two others were found on and in the floor of the home; they may have passed through the dog. One bullet is missing, but there are indications it may have struck metal corner joining two walls and broken into small fragments.

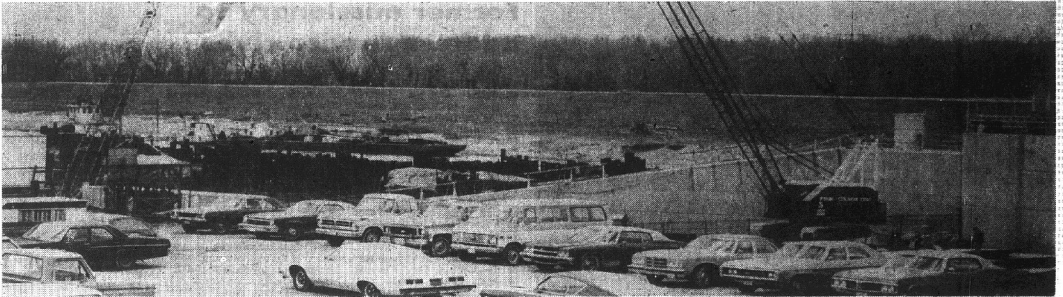

Autopsies were conducted on Mr. Riddle and on the dog Thursday.

After the shootings, the three intruders were believed to have left the home together, the girls returning to Madison High School about 11 a.m., an hour after the shootings. Bargiel credited the arrests to "a neighborhood canvass and several interviews. Three Madison boys, ages 15, 16 and 17, were interviewed and a 15-year-old Eagle Park boy also was questioned.

The young women were picked up separately at a Venice public housing project for questioning about 7 p.m. Wednesday and were charged with murder at 10 p.m. A warrant charging Baker with murder was obtained from Judge Beatty at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday and he surrendered at the Madison Police Department at midnight.

Bargiel said Baker's case probably will be taken before a Madison County grand jury within two weeks and possibly this week, as police and Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas C. Byron attempt to get one or more grand jury indictments against Baker.

A decision has not yet been made whether to request a hearing at which the juvenile girls could be certified to stand trial as adults, he noted.

Limit debt collection procedures

New regulations to protect a debtor from harassment by his creditors have been passed by the Illinois legislature and are being administered by the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions. Julius McNeese Jr., coordinator of the Consumer Information Project being conducted by the STUE East St. Louis Center, reports that the regulations prohibit a finance company from contacting a debtor or his family with "unreasonable frequency," or contacting the debtor at "unusual" or "inconvenient times."

The rules also prohibit finance company employees from using profane or abusive language with the debtor or his family or from disclosing or threatening to disclose information regarding the debt to anyone without a legitimate business need for the information, McNeese said.

Lois Wood, an attorney, often sees debtors who have complaints about harassment. She says, "Often the client is a woman with a family who has borrowed money when she was working but is unable to make full payments when she is laid off or when her husband loses his job or leaves the family."

Miss Wood says she has received complaints of extreme creditor behavior. "In one case, finance company employees called a sick woman on public aid several times a week for months. They also called her friends about the debt and even called her at the hospital waiting room when her daughter was hospitalized with a serious illness. All those practices would be illegal under the new regulations," Miss Wood said.

In another case, Miss Wood said, "a finance company called a mother receiving public assistance to say that the company was sending a truck out to pick up the woman's refrigerator and stove. The company didn't tell her it needed a court order to do this unless she voluntarily turned the appliances over to them. That sort of threat would also be prohibited by the new rules."

Trucks were rolling on the nation's highways at a normal pace today under a tentative labor agreement reached Saturday between the teamsters Union and the trucking industry.

Teamsters Union drivers who went on strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday began returning to work immediately after the new tentative agreement was announced by Union President Frank Fitzsimmons and Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. Secretary Usery, who met with union officials nearly all of last week at Arlington Heights, Ill., said the new pact "is in the best interests of the nation, the best interest of the teamsters and the best interest of the industry."

The settlement also meant that Fitzsimmons gained his most urgent demand—a cost-of-living adjustment without a ceiling. For President Ford, who said he was "delighted" when informed of the settlement, the new contract agreement eliminates the difficulty of a decision to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to end the strike.

For the trucking industry, the new agreement appeared to fall within the 9 per cent to 10 per cent annual added cost range that represents this year's wage pattern.

The agreement must be ratified by a membership mail ballot. Local area union representatives are to meet this week to review terms of the pact. No significant opposition is expected since the agreement has been recommended for ratification by top union officials.

While terms of the agreement were not announced officially, negotiations indicated the pact calls for a wage increase of 65 cents an hour, or $26 for a 40-hour week, effective April 1, 1976, an increase of 9.1 per cent over the current scale which officials said averages $7.11 nationwide.

Hourly paid workers will receive an additional 50 cents an hour on April 1, 1977, and another 50 cents an hour on April 1, 1978.

Under the cost-of-living adjustment—the most controversial phase of the contract—teamsters in 1977 will receive a pay raise equal to one cent an hour for each 0.4 point increase in the consumer price index published by the Labor Department. An increase of 6 per cent in that index would generate about 29 cents an hour in wage increases.

In 1978 the contract calls for a one-cent-an-hour increase for each 0.3 point rise in the consumer price index, using the Labor Department's 1967-based index. That formula would produce an added 33 or 34 cents an hour if the nation experienced 6 per cent inflation.

Major fringe benefits in the agreement call for employers to increase contributions to pension funds, currently about $22 per week for each employee, $3 per week for each year of the three-year agreement.

STEAL AUTOMOBILE The gold 1969 Chevrolet station wagon of David Harkey, 4041 Rode Ave., was stolen from the driveway of his home, the victim reported at 8:20 a.m. Saturday.

Another passenger, Francis Meyers, 22, of 2116 Delmar Ave., was treated for an abrasion to his head and injuries to his head, chest and right shoulder and was released after treatment.

Two children in the car were admitted to the hospital for observation. They were Francis Meyers Jr., 3, and Cassandra Meyers, 4, both of 3506 Kirkpatrick Homes.

School candidate cites educational background

Edward Dewey Melton, 2445 Stratford Lane, a Granite City School Board candidate April 19, attended Granite City schools from the fifth grade through high school, graduating in 1957 from Granite City High School. He received the degree of bachelor of arts in mathematics in 1963 from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He said during the weekend, "I believe my work experience, my education and my role as family provider qualify me to contribute positively to the Granite City school system in an advisory and decision-making capacity."

Having been a professional educator for three years, I can understand the needs of those teaching our children. My systems background with the IBM Data Processing Division will aid me in analyzing programs and methods to make sure they are as effective as possible.

"As a husband and father, I certainly understand the need to be careful with a dollar. I will do everything possible to make sure that our tax dollars are spent wisely."

Police said they received a call Saturday morning someone was trying to break into the confectionery again. They found two boys in front who appeared to be hiding something behind their backs. Officers alleged finding a crow bar behind them. They were questioned and one admitted burglarizing the store Thursday morning with two other youths.

One of the other youths was arrested at 9:55 a.m. Saturday and also admitted participating in Thursday's burglary. Candy, gum and some juices were stolen during the first burglary, in which a crow bar was used to pry open the front door.

State Park police resume

Boostered by four volunteers from the Miracle Manor area, the State Park Police Auxiliary Police Department has resumed operations in the southern portion of Nameoki Township.

The department, reorganized under a $9,500 grant from Nameoki Township, which provided a police car, uniforms and other needed equipment, was disbanded March 8 by its chief, Joe Boyer, who said he wanted to halt rumors he was using it for political gain.

Boyer was running for the Madison County Board District 25 seat, but lost to the incumbent Homer M. Boothman on the March 16 primary. Three members of the five-man force then voted to oust Boyer and Assistant Chief Lawrence Slack. Both resigned and have said they will not return to the department. Madison County Sheriff John Maers then withdrew the "superiority of safety" commissions under which the policemen obtained their authority, saying he wanted some changes before he would allow the department to return to service.

At his direction, a board of directors was appointed to operate the department and several men with commissions for a proposed Miracle Manor area auxiliary police unit were requested to volunteer for duty in State Park Place as a training program. Four agreed, bringing the department to seven volunteer officers. The board of directors then was elected and Maers returned the commissions to the officers and allowed operations to resume.

The new directors are: William Ellis, president of the police department; Harlon Pervan, president of the State Park Volunteer Fire Department; Mike Nance, president of the State Park Place Community Association; Al Bakos, the Rev. William Young, Mrs. Wanda Keel and Mrs. Frances Janik.

George Brown dies in fire

George W. Brown, 29, of 2653a Ave. St. Louis, a former Granite City resident, died in a fire at his home and was declared dead there at 1:30 a.m. Friday.

An inquest will be held by the St. Louis Coroner's Office, but it was believed to have been the result of smoke inhalation. Firemen said a cigarette may have been the cause of the fire which destroyed one side of Mr. Brown's apartment. It was reported he was found in the kitchen after apparently attempting to escape the smoke.

Mr. Brown was a dockhand for Ryder Truck Lines and was a member of Teamsters' Local 600, St. Louis. He was born in St. Louis and resided in Granite City about two years before returning to St. Louis earlier this year.

Surviving are four brothers, James Brown Jr., and Andrew Brown, both of Granite City; John W. Brown and Charles Brown, both of St. Louis; four sisters, Mrs. Louise Lewis, Mrs. James (Mary) Moss and Miss Ruby Brown, all of Granite City, and Mrs. James (Jesse) Goodfellow of San Jose, Calif., and his mother, Mrs. Catherine Brown of Granite City.

Funeral services were held in Granite City this morning. Details may be found in the obituary column.

GCS retired paymaster dies

Flavus C. Gerber, 66, of 903 N. Kansas St., Edwardsville, a retired employee of Granite City Steel, died at 1:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Joseph Hospital in Highland. He had been admitted there three days earlier. A life-long resident of Edwardsville, Mr. Gerber was employed many years as paymaster at the GCS Blast Furnace Division (coke plant) prior to retiring.

He was a veteran of World War II and a member of American Legion Post 199, Edwardsville, and St. Boniface Catholic Church, Edwardsville. Mr. Gerber is survived by one brother, Lucien Gerber of Edwardsville. His wife, Mrs. Lena (Klein) Gerber, died in 1952.

Funeral mass will be held at St. Boniface Church. Details are given in today's obituary column.

Mrs. Sadie Condran, 85, dies

Mrs. Sadie Marie (Coen) Condran, 85, of Parkway Nursing Home, O'Fallon, Ill. four years, died at the nursing home at 6:30 a.m. Sunday. She was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., and also resided in Detroit, Mich., before moving here 24 years ago.

Mrs. Condran was employed as a saleslady at a dress shop prior to retiring. Her husband, Walter Condran, died in 1969.

CRIME LABORATORY INVESTIGATION in progress at the location of Wednesday's fatal shooting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riddle. The home and lawn have been roped off by authorities.

Alton Avenue is in the foreground; the house is located on the rear of the lot at 1701 Market St.

NEW COMMUNITY CENTER is taking shape rapidly along East 23rd Street east of Nameeki Road on former Udel Bischoff property. Workmen are shown Thursday afternoon as they installed insulation and roofing materials on the Salvation Army Corps center, which is scheduled for completion in early summer.

Street workers repair car

Tom Bass, whose auto was damaged March 25 when a portion of a building being demolished in downtown Granite City collapsed on it, Friday commended the Granite City Street Department for repairing the auto.

The street department was demolishing the form Dorian's Bridal Shop, 1302 Nineteenth St., when the front collapsed, a large beam striking the right front fender of Bass's auto.

Bass, who lives at 2432 Delmar Ave., said street department workers repaired the dents, painted the fender and replaced the chrome, working two days on the car in the department's garage.

Fire trustees to borrow

A proposal to sell an anticipation warrant for about $9,000 will be among items to be discussed by the Long Lake Fire Protection District Board of Trustees at a meeting at 6:30 p.m. today in the Long Lake Fire Hall in Ponton Beach.

President Harold Davis said the anticipation warrant will allow the trustees to make a $9,000 final payment to the Long Lake Fire Department, completing payments on this fiscal year's $48,000 contract.

The trustees also are to discuss having three additional fire hydrants installed in the district, completing a program to increase the number of fire hydrants, which was financed by a $10,000 federal revenue sharing grant from Nameeki Township.

RANSACK HOUSE

The home of Jerry Southerland, 2130 Grand Ave., was broken into and ransacked completely, it was discovered at 1:45 a.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by throwing a large rock through a northwest window. Clothing was slashed, bottles were broken, liquids were spilled on the floor and a BB gun was stolen, Southerland reported.

FACES DRUG CHARGE

John E. Waller, 23, Lebanon, Ill., was arrested at Weaver and Calhoun streets in Venice at 9:30 a.m. Friday and was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance. Venice police alleged Waller was in possession of a small plastic bag containing pills alleged to be dihydroamphetamines.

Woman beaten, shot fired

Mrs. Sharon Stuart, 19, of 2139 Lee Ave., was taken by police to St. Elizabeth Hospital after she alleged another woman beat her with brass knuckles and then fired a gun near her at her home at 4:45 p.m. Sunday.

A short time later, police arrested Bernadette A. Henderson, 22, of 2310 Parkview Drive, Apt. 15, and charged her with aggravated battery and discharging a firearm within the city limits.

Mrs. Stuart first called police and told them shots had been fired near her home. Officers arrived to find her bleeding from a cut to the back of her head she said was inflicted by a woman wearing brass knuckles.

She said the woman also displayed a large blue-steel revolver and fired one or two shots at her. Police recovered a bullet from the neighboring home of Lawrence Hopkins, 2143 Lee Ave., where it had struck the siding.

Officers took Mrs. Stuart to the hospital where she was treated for a small cut to the back of her head. X-rays of her skull were taken and she was released.

Based upon a description of the car which left the scene, police later stopped a car on Parkview Drive and questioned two women. Bernadette A. Henderson was arrested and she allegedly gave police information which led to the finding of a gun and a pair of brass knuckles.

The gun was found hidden in bushes near 21st Street and Edwardsville Road and the brass knuckles were found hidden on a porch in the 1900 block of Edwardsville Road.

Reports $26,000 loan to Walker campaign

Gary R. Fears, 29, Collinsville, a former Granite City resident and former head of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, loaned $26,000 to Gov. Dan Walker's primary campaign organization, according to documents filed under the Illinois campaign disclosure law.

Fears loaned $15,000 of the $26,000 to Walker the day before the primary. He left his $27,000 a-year post in February to work in the campaign.

Records show Fears also loaned $500 to a Walker committee in the Rock Island area, which has been repaid. The $26,000 he loaned to the Dan Walker for Governor Metro-East Inc., has not been repaid and is a portion of the estimated $200,000 to $300,000 debt still unpaid.

Fears said the $26,000 he loaned to the campaign was his own money and noted, "I wasn't a funnel or anything like that."

Public housing is here to stay, according to David Gordon, a property manager for the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) in the Quad-City area who spoke Thursday morning at the Breakfast Kiwanis club meeting in Charlie's Restaurant.

Gordon explained that FHA operates and subsidizes public housing units and through an interest subsidy pays part of the loan interest.

He said that in some states, such as Texas, a person can obtain a cash grant for a home.
